BEFORE AND AFTER

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What is a hair transplant and how does it work?

A hair transplant involves the extraction of healthy hair follicles from a donor site (normally the back and sides of your head). These are then implanted into the area you are experiencing hair loss.

How long does a hair transplant procedure usually take?

The complete hair transplant procedure can take four hours or longer. However, this will vary from person to person depending on your individual needs and circumstances.

Is hair transplant surgery painful?

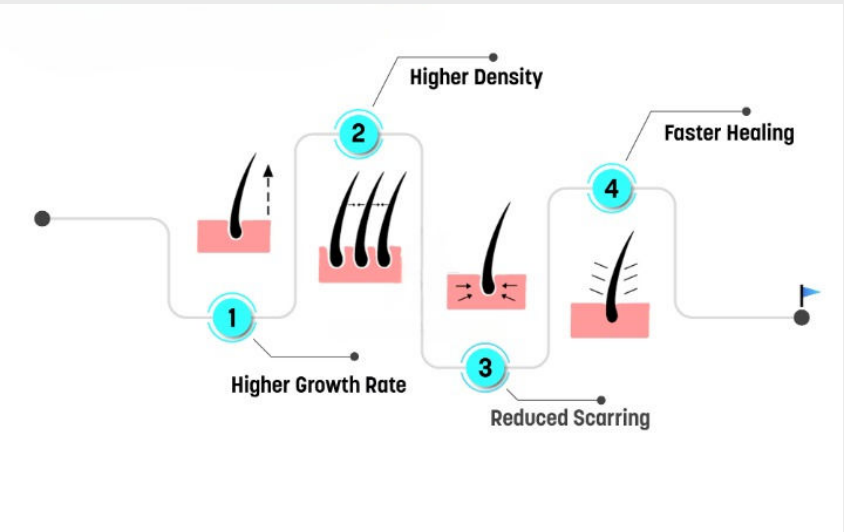

Before your transplant begins, you will be given a local anaesthetic to ensure you won't feel any pain throughout the procedure. We also offer you pain relief medication to help with any further discomfort you may feel.

What are the different techniques used in hair transplantation?

There are two types of hair transplant; follicular unit transplantation (FUT) and follicular unit excision (FUE). An FUT removes small, thin strips from your scalp for transplantation, whereas, an FUE removes the individual hair follicles.

What are the benefits of FUE hair transplant technique?

At New Hair Clinic we offer FUE hair transplants to ensure our patients receive the best possible results with reduced visible scarring and faster recovery.

How long does it take to see the final results of a hair transplant?

The results of a hair transplant aren't immediate and will require patience. For the full results of your hair transplant to be apparent, it can take up to 12 or 18 months.

Can the transplanted hair be styled and treated like natural hair?

Yes. Your transplanted hair will be your natural hair, so it can be cut, styled and dyed once you are out of your recovery phase. This also means you will need to take good care of your transplanted hair by using the right products.

What is the recovery process like after a hair transplant?

After your hair transplant, we will provide you with all the aftercare advice you need to ensure your recovery gives the best results possible.

You'll need to wear a bandage for around 24 hours and will need to avoid washing your hair for 5 days. When you do wash your hair, you'll also need to simply let it air dry, rather than rubbing it dry with a towel or using a hair dryer.

If you go outside, you should also wear a hat to protect your sensitive scalp from the sun.
